

of lilies of the valley and ferns. She carried bride roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Mary Foster Megathlin, wore a gown of white Japanese silk, enriched with white satin ribbons and lace and carried pinks.

The bridesmaid, Miss Violet May McLean, was attired in a becoming gown of white organdie made over pink surah silk, with a yoke of white and a fichu of organdie in the same color. She carried daybreaks. The party made a most charming picture.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Megathlin for an hour or more were engaged in receiving the congratulations of the large concourse of relatives and friends for a happy future. Then a delightful wedding repast was served by Mrs. Georgia Goff of Providence and Mrs. Lester Adams of this city. During the repast piano solos were rendered by Mrs. Benjamin Eaton and others, and in the interim the guests were privileged to gaze upon a beautiful display of costly and useful tokens of the good will and best wishes of the friends of the happy young couple which were exhibited in one of the apartments and which literally filled the room.

Mr. and Mrs. Megathlin left this forenoon on a honeymoon trip which
