Main Street, Dennisport, circa 1930

The buildings along the Main Street of Dennisport have been destroyed by fire twice - once in 1889 and a second time in 1929. This photograph appeared on a post card, and pictures the "new stores" built after the second fire. On the left is Dean's Music Store, now Edson's clothing shop. The First National Store has most recently been the home to Denmark's Pharmacy. Seen through the trees is the Pharmacy, ice cream parlor and millinery establishments owned by the Esteys and between them there stood in the summer time a temporary stand where Pop's chicken pies were sold by Edmund "Pop" O'Brien.
